Methodology •

Harken-Reidar, Member of Carlson College, developed the "T.I.E. Training™" methodology used in our training, which stands for Tools, Imagination and Expertise. We have found that successful CADD training is comprised of knowing where the Tools of the software are located, and how to use them; engaging your Imagination to apply those tools to a task; and having the professional Expertise required in order to optimize the tools as they were intended.

Environment •

Class size is limited, which allows for personal one-on-one attention. Each attendee is provided with a training PC in the session to enhance the comprehensive hands-on learning experience for no extra fee. Classes generally run M-F, from 9:00AM – 4:30PM with a lunch hour and two breaks. Harken-Reidar is an IACET Authorized Training Facility and strives for a learning environment conducive for training. Certificates and CEU's are awarded at course completion.

Instructors •

Harken-Reidar instructors are experienced industry practitioners and experts in the use of the software for surveying, engineering, mining and construction and are always open to questions on related topics.
